

WANTED

Smart, Creative, Sales and Marketing Professionals

Gopher Leads is a front-line intelligence, enterprise mobile app.

Our Customers Use Gopher To: captures sales leads, launch front line sales campaigns, spot competitive intelligence, report customer or equipment issues, report health and safety issues and more. Gopher makes it possible for every employee to contribute opportunities instantly from the field as they go about their daily routines. Our customers are in waste management, telecommunications, transportation, service and repair sectors and can be just in about any business that has a customer facing work force.

The successful candidate will be:

- comfortable creating a new business category
- totally comfortable working in a start up atmosphere and developing go to market strategies
- entrepreneurial, with at least one or two start-up ventures under her belt. The previous point would be a “nice to have” but recent grads with work experience should not be discouraged from applying.
- super creative
- able to navigate LinkedIn and other social media for lead generation
- outgoing and likeable
- relentless and looking for a challenge
- more work than balance outlook on life

Hunters apply only; farmers, no openings currently.
